

5.11
Casual Leather Belts

5.11 Tactical has introduced seven new leather belts for everyday casual, plain-clothes, and undercover wear. Constructed of full-grain leather, each belt measures 1.5 inches wide and incorporates a Permastiff insert for stable holster wear. A hidden handcuff key keeper is found on the reverse side of each belt. Three belt styles are available with simple or decorative stitching. Belts are available in three colors: black, brown, and buckskin with tone-on-tone or contrast stitching. All buckles feature 5.11's rugged "I-Beam" construction for extra durability.

BlueStreak Connect CONNECT SUITE

Most software companies sell enterprise-wide solutions that are big-ticket items intended for huge public safety agencies. BlueStreak Connect has taken an alternative approach. The company's Connect Suite is an automated field reporting system designed for small and mid-size agencies. Best of all, it doesn't cost an arm and a leg. BlueStreak Connect says the pay-as-you-go downloadable data management and information-sharing tool costs less than $2 per officer.

StarChase
LAUNCHABLE CAR TAGGING AND TRACKING SYSTEM

StarChase is a company specializing in tagging and tracking pursuit management solutions for law enforcement. What that means is if your patrol car is outfitted with the StarChase device, you can push a button and launch a small, sticky GPS transmitter onto a car bumper to wirelessly track the vehicle without a lengthy and dangerous high-speed pursuit. New advances added in response to testing by the LAPD and Florida Highway Patrol include a laser to facilitate aim, a backlit control panel, and a remote control launch switch that can be activated outside of the car.

Bullard
TACSIGHT S2

The Tacsight S2 handheld thermal imager is Bullard's newest design for law enforcement. For covert surveillance in darkness, you can dim the display or even turn it completely off and view images through an attachable eyepiece. A new optional feature called Electronic Threat Tagging allows you to apply a blue color overlay to a suspected threat object to easily distinguish it from other heat sources at the scene. The Bullard S2 is available with either a 50-degree wide-angle lens for close-up entry missions, or an 11-degree lens for longer range surveillance missions.

Safariland
RAPID LIGHT SYSTEM

Safariland, a BAE Systems company, has introduced the Rapid Light System (RLS), which combines a gun-mounted light and hand-held flashlight into one integrated light system. The RLS system employs a single, ultra-bright flashlight and separate gun mount with a built-in clip. The flashlight mounts onto any weapon incorporating an integral rail or Picatinny rail system, including rifles and shotguns. Designed to mount in two quick and easy steps, the RLS slides onto a weapon's rail and "locks" into place, rapidly transitioning from standard flashlight for hand-held use to tactical illumination.
